

The Bureau Of Silly Ideas (BOSI) is offering a one week work placement within our team that delivers grand ambitious projects with communities in public spaces.

Who are Bureau Of Silly Ideas?

We are creators of inspired madness and controlled chaos in the public realm. We make people smile & think by working with culture and communities to inspire behavioural change.

We inject art, entertainment, humour and surprise in everyday places - creating engaging installations, devised theatre shows and surprising interventions that bring magic and silliness to the mundane.

As one of the smallest Arts Council England National Portfolio Organisations we maintain an impressively large public impact as makers, creators and inventors. Our making and performance spaces in Brixton are available for use, we call these Silly Towers and provide access to them via Club Silly.

Much of our work is delivered free at the point of contact to thousands of audiences on our doorstep and across the UK in spaces where people happen to be, travel and congregate.

- Duration: 1 week full time
- Salary: London Real Living Wage £13.15 (funded by Elevate with BOSI contribution)
- Place of work: BOSI office (behind Sports Direct in Valentia Place)
- Start time: From January 2025 onwards. Flexible with start dates for the right person

Is a Silly Work Placement For Me?

If you are inquisitive, curious and want to try lots of different things, it just might be!

You should be excited about the same things we are, which is doing a good job, silliness, surprise and giving people joyful experiences.

You will share our passion for enabling communities to access great experiences and supporting artists to achieve their ambitions.

Person Specification:

Essential (in no particular order!)

- Willingness to learn
- English language
- Punctual
- Likes teamwork - but gets a job done
- Interested in performance and events
- 18 - 24
- Lambeth Resident
- Confident working alongside extroverts
- Not currently in education, employment or training

We are looking for someone who loves Lambeth to support our work in sharing the Bureau Of Silly Ideas' resources. What you do during the week will depend on your interests and what you want to learn!

TO APPLY

Send your CV, which should include 2 references and a super short cover letter (we're not big readers or fans of unnecessary work to get work). What we really want to know about you is why you would want to come and spend a week with us.
